ACADEMIC SESSION 2024-25

Khongnangthaba University

The Khongnangthaba University, established as the first private university under the Manipur Private University Act 2021 (Act No-6 of 2021), aims to promote and preserve traditional knowledge — a foundational element of every society's civilization. It is recognised under Section 2(f) of the UGC Act 1956, and the university is empowered to award degrees under Section 22 of the UGC Act 1956. Named after Lourembam Khongnangthaba, an esteemed 18th-century scholar and advocate of the Meitei faith, a highly revered personality known for his dedication to protecting and promoting traditional knowledge, considered a reincarnation of Apoimacha, the wisdom teacher of King Khangemba in the 16th century. The university strives to explore and enhance the value of traditional knowledge within the framework of the national educational curriculum. The university aims to provide an academic environment conducive to growth, quality of skills and intellect through intensive research.

The university acknowledges the impact of the education system introduced during the British Colonial period, which neglected the traditional values of oriental social life. In response to the merits and demerits of this system, there is a growing assertion for the promotion of traditional knowledge and its oriental outlook in the context of ongoing social development. Khongnangthaba University strives to fill this gap by integrating traditional expertise and resources into its educational initiatives.

In summary, Khongnangthaba University stands as a tribute to Lourembam Khongnangthaba's legacy, aiming to preserve and advance traditional knowledge within the contemporary educational landscape of Manipur.
